ASIDES

NEW HIGHWAY POSSIBLE

The talk we hear about the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads merging suggests a solution to some of the area highway problems. There are portions of the two lines which now are parallel and one line can be eliminated. If this is done, a beautiful right-of-way, provided by the public and tax free all these years, should revert to our use.

Such a one is that between Warren and Youngsville. Also some of that between Warren and Jamestown, if it is abandoned.

One of the most common causes of accidents is sideswiping. One or both drivers fail to stay on the right side of the road.

A major threat to the lives and bones of motorists is the three-lane. It invites passing in the center lane, and too often this happens with a car coming down the middle from the other direction. Or two will pull out of long traffic lines simultaneously, often piling up several cars.

An easy solution is separate highways. The additional lane and the unpaved center section will pay for themselves in blood not spilled.

In the local situation we could build another highway and make the present one serve the traffic traveling in the opposite direction. At the very least we should be insisting on a four-way if the deserted right-of-way is used.

It is time now to prepare for this development. We urge opposition to more three-lanes and support of either four-ways or separate one-way roads.

ADVERTISE IT

Perhaps one of the "come hither" angles which should be used by those dedicated to bringing people and industry to these shores is the kind of weather experience we had last week. While the snow belt north of us was bogged down with the white stuff, we were clear, bare, and shining. It is this freedom from heavy snow that protects us from annual floods. The little snow we usually get goes off in easy stages throughout the winter. The exceptional years, such as 1956, can be troublesome, as you remember.

These unusual years with the heavy snow and costly floods happen often enough to suggest we should forget about them while tooting our horn. Industry which wants clean water and flat land near it, also wants flood control and freedom from muddy water losses.

DEVELOPMENT CONTEST

The mail is bringing to many civic organizations an announcement concerning the fourth annual community development contest, sponsored by the Pennsylvania State

Chamber of Commerce and financed by eleven co-sponsoring organizations.

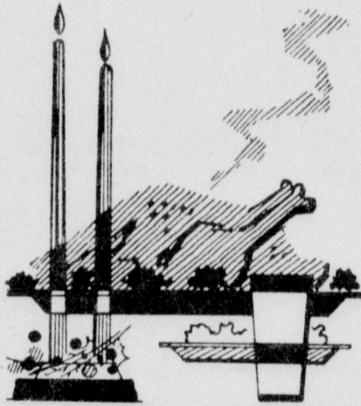

Entry blanks must be filed by March 31, 1958, and scrap books illustrating the community's success must be ready by March 1, 1959. There are five population classes with seven cash awards in each class, running $1500, $1000, $500, $400, $300, $200, and $100.

The classification maximums are 2,000, 5,000, 10,000, 25,000 and all over 25,000. First place winners last year were Hazelton, Carlisle, South Middleton twp. in Cumberland county, and Saltsburg. There were not enough winners last year to use up the prizes, and only $15,000 of the $20,000 total was paid out.

We have a folder explaining the rules for any community which wishes to study the plan in detail. What do you have to lose?

DON'T BE FOOLED by that caustic comment to the effect that no one ever goes to the chair for committing murder in Warren county. The fact is that three now have been so sentenced inside of twenty years. It was not Warren county's fault that the sentences were never carried

Observations

By Bob Walsh

STATE TAXES INTENT NOT INVITATIONAL

It must not be amusing to the many who voted for a Democrat administration in Pennsylvania when they read publicity put out by the current leadership as an inducement to industry to stay with us or to come our way. In the midst of it they will find current leaders pointing with pride to an article which appeared in the newspaper of another state.

This article points out that Pennsylvania now has a 3 per cent sales tax which no longer is temporary but now is a permanent part of our tax structure and also is the principal source of commonwealth revenues. It also points up the reduced sales tax on purchases by manufacturing firms, the elimination of the tax on stock transfers, the exemption of manufacturers from the capital stock and franchise tax.

It says in the article that these recommendations, sponsored in the general assembly by the governor received virtually unanimous bipartisan support, and that they resulted from a bi-partisan study of the tax problem by a management-labor tax advisory committee appointed by the governor.

The article also says the results of this recent action by our Harrisburg leadership included the absence of a state personal income tax and the growing dependence of localities on non-property taxes. This article apparently is pleasing to the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce because printed copies of it are being distributed to the press.

HOW GULLIBLE ARE WE?

It is quite clear to this writer that both parties in Pennsylvania today are very much controlled by their big contributors. Proof is this so-called attraction to industry through low taxes for business. We doubt if major industries stay here because of it, or that any will come to the state because of it. Most of those that are here were started locally, or came to Pennsylvania because of the potential market or the proximity of raw materials.

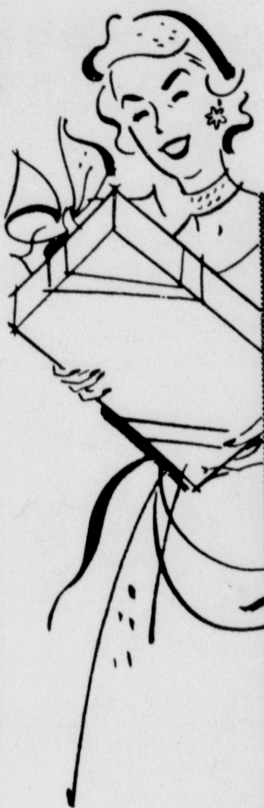

The tax plan was not conceived primarily to attract industry. If that were so, all other states would match us tax by tax. All tax plans in this state and in the nation exist as they are for only one reason. That reason is politics which are very well controlled by those who give the most to the party money chest.

The tax structure as an industry enticement to us is no more than a thin excuse by those who control our politics and intend to see that industry does not pay its share of state or local taxes. And as long as we have an antique constitution that precludes graduated taxes, the little income earner will shell out more than his fair proportion.

These same leaders could use their influence with the press and with office holders to put through a graduated and very fair income tax. But the press has walked over the income tax so solidly that the public believes it is an unjust swipe at its pocketbook.

There is justification for this suspicion because of the federal income tax. This is filled with loopholes for those who can afford shrewd lawyers and tax experts to guide their financing and accounting. The huge write-offs allowed many industries are so extreme that there are corporations which have made millions of dollars and paid no taxes at all!

The public is told that the sales tax and the per capita taxes are fair methods of escaping more property assessments. But what is fair about a tax which costs the $3,000 a year man the same as it does the

FOR ARROW WHITE SHIRTS

$50,000 a year executive? Very often such taxes cost the small wage earner more than they do many salaried men.

When the average taxpayer realizes that fairly assessed graduated income taxes or earned income taxes are the best solution to our public money problems, action at the polls may result in elected officials who will clean up the tax extortion. But that won't happen until enough of the press starts talking to enlighten and educate the public. The alternative might be taxpayer associations, through which large numbers of us could learn the truth and make public demands.

Meanwhile, don't swallow that one about our present tax being written to hold and to entice industry. It is as it is because present industry wants it that way. And they are here because of good reasons other than taxes.

The day taxes start a wholesale rush of business to Pennsylvania, other states will do just as well. This talk about competing for industrial plants is a bit ridiculous. The bribed can be bribed.

The only solid way to obtain plants is to have something tangible to offer, such as good sites, plenty of raw materials, clean water, good schools, progressive communities, manpower, easy access to markets . . . and, most important, the market.

MISREPRESENT EARNINGS
Three Cleveland firms have been charged with misrepresenting their earnings to be made from servicing their vending machines. The FTC says they use names such as Hershey to suggest that major company is involved, which it is not, make excessive profit claims, and are making the prospect a buyer rather than an employee. The defendants named are The Atlas Mfg. and Sales Corp., American Products Corp., and Atlas Enterprises.

BULB QUALITY QUESTIONED
False advertising of its nursery stock has been charged against the Michigan Bulb Co., and it has been ordered to stop misrepresenting the terms of sale and the kinds and quality of its merchandise. A typical ad mentioning rose plants, field grown, tested for condition, and making similar claims, was so wrong that the plants did not even include true roses, says the FTC. The plants were not field grown, were not a foot high, and were not hardy, says the complaint.

A similar complaint has been filed against the Atlas Rose Farms, Inc., of Brooklyn, N. Y.

STILL HIGH FOREHEADS
The Wybrant System which has claimed it could prevent baldness, presented several clients at the FTC hearing to prove the treatment worked. But the examiner ruled that even the witnesses still had high foreheads, and the firm was ordered to stop making unqualified claims that it can prevent baldness and grow hair.

NOT A WEIGHT REDUCER
Rennel Concentrate is more of a laxative than it is a weight reducer, rules the FTC. It has ordered the makers to stop advertising that it will cure obesity.

It's fun to shop for — and wrap — and GIVE the "little things" that mean so much at Christmastime.

But this year and every year it will pay you to give yourself and your family one grand big gift that will continue to give pleasure long after the holly is down and other gifts have been put away.

Give your family a "something we've always wanted" Electric Appliance. Just think of the hours of extra "after dinner" time an Automatic Dishwasher could save—or the pride the whole family would take in an Electric Freezer or Combination Refrigerator filled to overflowing with good things to eat.

Or it might be the gift your family needs most of all is a new Range—the kind that will stay modern, bright and clean for years — ELECTRIC.

Or it could be the laundry . . . an Automatic Electric Washer or Dryer, with a safe, clean, automatic Electric Water Heater to make it complete, that will bring the most convenience and pleasure to the family (and pay for itself in the time and clothing it saves).

Whatever electric appliance you choose, you can be sure it will serve you safely, dependably and economically for years to come. It will do the job it was designed to do quickly and easily — and allow you extra time for more complete living.

Sometime between now and Christmas, make an inspection tour of your Reddy Appliance Dealers' and select a gift to be yours, to have and enjoy for a long, long time . . . a gift that will let you and your family

LIVE BETTER...Electrically

PENNSYLVANIA ELECTRIC COMPANY

PROCTOR AND GAMBLE IS CHARGED WITH MONOPOLY

The acquisition of Clorox Chemical Co. by Proctor and Gamble Co. lessens competition and tends to create a monopoly in violation of the Antimerger Law, says the FTC. Procter and Gamble is the country's leading Producer of soap and detergent products. The makers of Clorox have the nation's largest selling household bleach.

The value of the name "Clorox" is demonstrated by the P and G paying over $30 million for assets valued at $15 million, says the FTC complaint.

P and G controls the soap market by its high pressure advertising campaign which totaled $79 million last year. This promoted such products as Gleem toothpaste so well that it has 25 per cent of the market, and a newer one, Crest, has gained 13 per cent in its first year.

In 1956 the company pushed Comet, a cleaner, so strong it had 29 per cent of the market in nine months. It gave away 30 million Comet samples at a cost of $3.3 million.

By acquiring Clorox it can get difficult to obtain shelf space through possession of a complete line of cleansing and laundry products.

CIGARETTES WILL HAVE ADVERSE EFFECTS

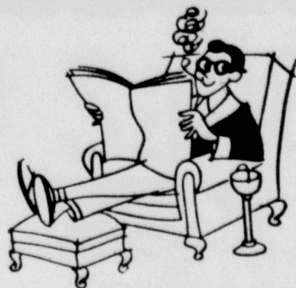

Cigarettes will have, or certainly are likely to have, some adverse effect on the smoker's nose, throat, and accessory organs. So says the FTC to back up its order which prohibits Liggett and Myers Tobacco Co. from claiming that Chesterfield cigarettes will have no adverse effect on these organs.

The examiner said, "... it is highly significant that without exception all of the physicians and scientists testifying, whether for the government or for the respondent, appear to recognize that cigarette smoke is an irritant and is capable of affecting adversely the nose, throat and accessory organs . . . the witnesses differ as to the extent and gravity of the danger, but all recognize that at least some danger is present."

CORRY HAS BORROWED $120,000 from the state and $200,000 from three banks to purchase the Aero Supply Plant, which will be occupied by a branch of a Kansas City firm producing aircraft fuel controls, hydraulic units, and sub-assemblies. The Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority is charging 2 per cent for the second mortgage loan. The plant will pay $1,400,000 annually to 300 employees.

Erie WICU Delays Power Increase Until December

Warren county should have two strong tv signals some time between December 10 and 15. Erie's WICU has delayed its power increase, which was scheduled for Thanksgiving Day. Strong winds have complicated the antenna erection work.

The station will have a strength of 316,000 watts which is the maximum allowed. It now is operating at 30,000 watts. The new antenna is located six miles south of Erie on the Waterford rd., and is 490 feet high. However, it is 780 feet above average terrain height in this area.

This strong station should provide the area with two major networks. WICU has mostly NBC programs. It also has a few ABC programs and much color. WBEN out of Buffalo which is our strongest today has CBS.

"outstanding young farmer".

The purpose of this project is to select a young farmer aged 21 through 35 who is making outstanding progress in his agriculture career, is practicing soil and natural resource conservation and who maintains a consistent contributory role in community improvement and affairs.

The public is asked to nominate such men by means of nomination forms which will be available on December 6 in Warren, Youngsville, Sugar Grove, Columbus and Lander. Chuck Thomas is Jaycee chairman.

PERSONALITIES. William E. Yeager, Jr., Warren, has resigned as head of the county Civil Defense rescue division. He is being replaced by Harold Fullmer, Warren-Jamestown rd.

Mrs. Lelah G. Wagner, RN, of Sugar Grove, has been elected a director of the Pennsylvania Nurses Association.

MEN IN SERVICE. Serving with the 2nd Marine division at Camp Lejeune, N.C., is Pfc. Francis T. Tome, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay W. Tome, 56 Locust St., Warren.

Airman Donald A. Weaver, USN, son of Mrs. Margaret D. Huckabone, Route 2, Warren, is stationed aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Shangri-La at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard. The carrier is undergoing a routine overhaul.

SANTA CLAUS comes to Warren Saturday night and will be greeting youngsters with candy canes and pop corn balls between 6 and 9 p.m. on Second avenue. The mailbox will also be on the scene for the children's letters.

Music will be provided during the evening by the Warren high Dragon Band, the WHS a cappella choir, Warren Boy Choir, and the Warren Barbershoppers.

The merchants will also keep their stores open Saturday until 9.

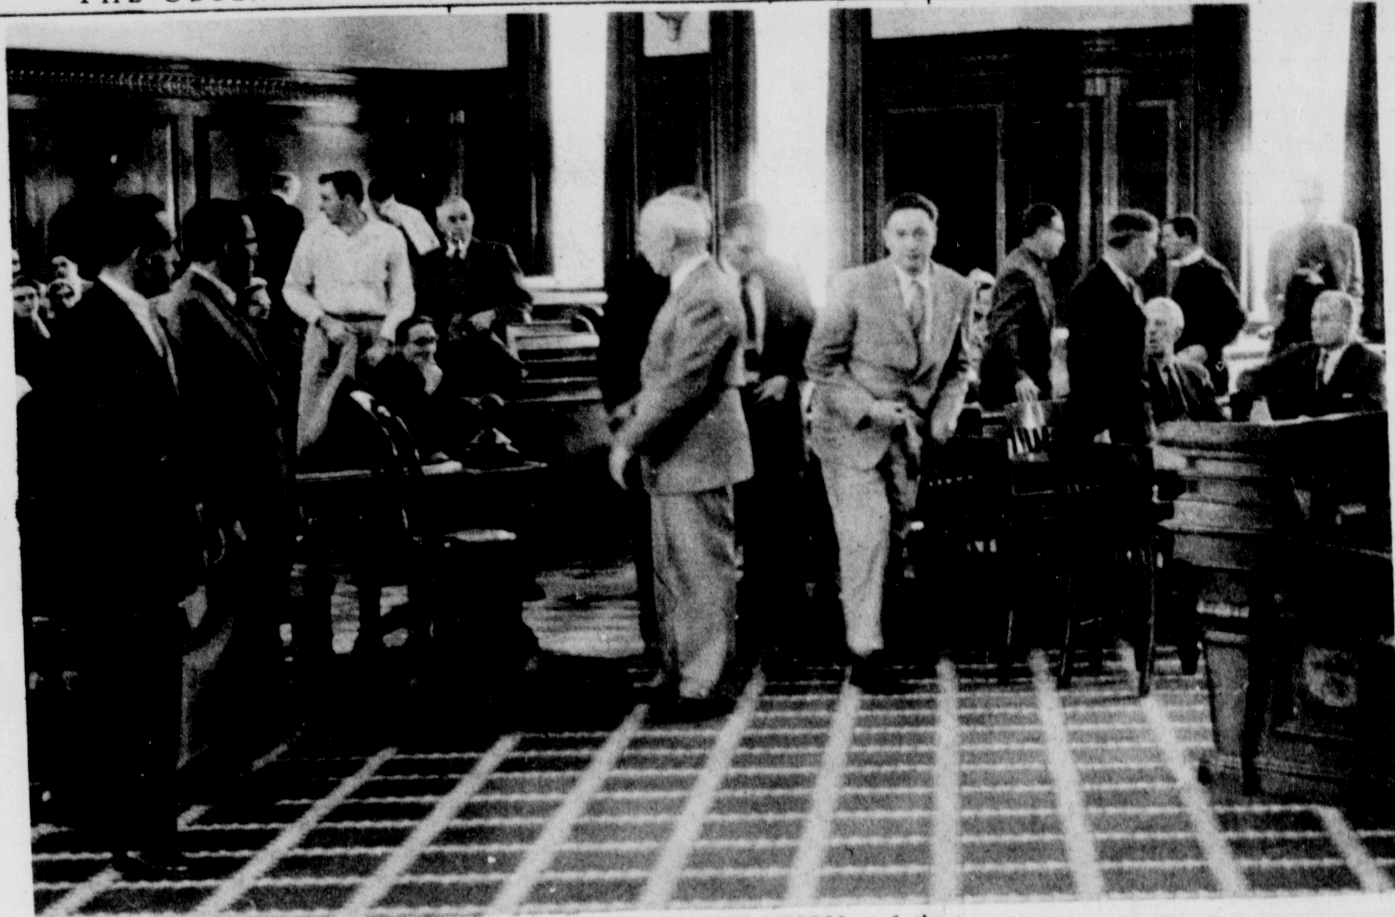

7,981 persons had Christmas savings accounts with area banks this year and drew $803,306, the largest amount ever. In 1956 checks were mailed to 6,437 and totalled $644,911.50.

The average check also increased from $100.18 to $100.65.

STILL MISSING. John Anderson, 38, of Akeley, is still missing after disappearing from his home September 26. While his truck was found abandoned along the highway in the Tidioute area, no trace as to his whereabouts has been turned over.

Anderson stands 6-3, weighs 190 pounds, has brown hair and blue eyes.

A PAIR of Monday accidents were looked into by State Police, the most serious occurring at 10:59 p.m. two miles east of Youngsville on Route 6. A car driven by Virginia Katsaromitsoe, of Erie, skidded into the path of an oncoming auto operated by Albert Simons, of Harrisville, causing $700 damage. The Erie driver and two passengers of the second vehicle, Myrtle Simons and Edith Simons, required treatment at Warren General Hospital for injuries sustained.

At 3:45 p.m. Donald Griffin, Frewsburg, N.Y., failed to negotiate a curve just north of Corydon. The driver escaped injury, but $125 damage was caused to the car.

WARREN SANITARY AUTHORITY Friday signed an agreement with the Singer, Deane and Scribner bonding firm for $1,125,000 in municipal bonds to underwrite the costs of Warren's new sewage disposal plant.

Bids for construction of the plant on the South Side amounted to $1,106,373.

The Federal government will pay $250,000 of the cost.

ON RECOMMENDATION of the State Pardons Board last Thursday, Gov. Leader commuted Norman W. Moon's death sentence to life imprisonment and ordered that he be committed to the Farview Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Waymart in Wayne County.

The 32-year-old Connellsville man was scheduled to die in the electric chair December 2 for the Warren County court room shooting of Judge Allison D. Wade on January 13, 1954.

The Pardons Board reached its decision after the condemned man was examined by three Pittsburgh psychiatrists who stated Moon "was mentally ill with a disorder commonly known as schizophrenia, paranoid type".

Moon is facing the camera in the picture above as he appeared here in January of 1957 to hear his death sentence pronounced.

SO FAST is the new film being advertised by the camera companies that a Warren Observer employe has commented that if they make it any more sensitive you won't dare carry your camera in the daylight.

YOU MAY BE SOLD without knowing it. Subliminal perception is being tried experimentally on several television stations, though of course it is not being publicized. The FCC is faced with the problem of ruling on the legality of such an approach.

In case you don't know, this is the use of pictures on your screen so fast that you do not have time to read them. In fact, you are not supposed to be conscious of seeing them.

The expected result is to subconsciously move you to do what the message asks, such as buy suds, vote for Joe, or write a letter. It is done by inserting a frame with the message in a loop of about 250 frames, thus giving you the quick message about every eleven seconds.

Sneaky, and perhaps very unfair, the tv moguls may rule.

MAJOR ATTRACTION for this week's concert of the Pittsburgh Symphony orchestra is Betty Jean Hagen, called the finest woman musician in the British commonwealth. The young Canadian violinist will play Friday and Sunday in the Syria Mosque.

TWO CARS FOR ONE is the offer shaping up in DeSoto circles. It has made a small model, called the Firemite, which is a duplicate of the big car. It is equipped with a 4 cycle engine and is limited to 5 m.p.h. They may be given away with every station wagon for your small fry to drive. Might come in handy on a paper route.

TAX TIPS NUMBER 4

Steps That Could Save A Dependency Exemption

This is the last in a series of four articles on federal income taxes. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

As you check over the list of people you intend to claim as dependents on your 1957 tax return, keep this phrase in mind: more than one-half support.

This is the test of dependency. Unless the money you have contributed during the year is enough to make up more than one-half of a dependent's living costs, you might as well cross that person off your list. He or she will not qualify as a dependent for tax purposes—and you will lose a valuable $600 exemption on your 1957 return.

Taxpayers with children who work part-time or during the summer should watch this angle closely. It's not how much your child earns during the year—it's how much he contributes to his own support. The law specifically states that a parent may claim an exemption for a child, stepchild or adopted child under 19 years of age, no matter how much he earned, provided the child depended on the parent for more than one-half of his support.

Bank Child's Earnings

Here is an important point to remember when you are trying to decide whether you have contributed the necessary amount: the money a youngster banks or invests is not considered to be a contribution to his own support costs. Check carefully to see how much of your child's earnings has gone for his support. You may find that it will save an exemption on the family return if you have him bank his earnings for the rest of the year.

Supporting a Relative

If you have helped support a relative during the year, see to it that what you have contributed is enough to permit you to claim an exemption for this dependent. For example, you may have paid approximately $650 of your mother's $1,400 living expenses. By contributing another $55 or $60 to her support before December 31, you can push the total over the more-than-half mark of $700 and gain an additional exemption.

Or, if you shared with others in the support of a parent, take steps now to insure that one of you can qualify for an exemption. Make sure, first of all, that your combined contributions were enough to total more than one-half of the parent's living expenses. Then, have all the members of the group that contributed 10 per cent or more of the parent's support sign Multiple Support Agreements, granting one signer of the agreement permission to claim the full exemption.

Claim All Exemptions

Exemptions cannot be juggled, shifted, bunched or pyramided to gain a tax advantage—but they can be overlooked. Be sure to claim all the exemptions you properly can, because each one reduces your taxable income by $600. Remember that to qualify for an exemption a dependent must:

(1) Have received more than one-half of his support from you, unless you file Multiple Support Agreements (which may be obtained at any Internal Revenue Service).

(2) Have less than $600 gross income for 1957, unless he or she is your child and under 19, or a full-time student.

(3) Not file a joint return.

(4) Live with you (absence while attending school does not interfere), or be a close relative as specifically defined in the official instruction book, or be a cousin receiving institutional care for a mental or physical disability who had lived with you before going to the institution.

(5) Be either a citizen of the United States or a resident of the U. S., Canada, Mexico, Panama and in some cases, a serviceman's child living in the Philippines.

If you are supporting dependents but are not able to file a joint return because you are unmarried, you may be able to qualify as the "head of a household" and be entitled to use a special schedule of tax rates that gives you half the benefits of income-splitting. In a situation where, say, a son lives with his widowed mother and shares expenses equally, the son may have to contribute a few extra dollars before the end of the year to qualify as the head of a household.

Each year millions of taxpayers put off filing their tax returns until the April 15 deadline. The last minute rush to avoid a late filing penalty produces not only long lines at Internal Revenue Service offices, but also many careless mistakes by taxpayers. Prepare your tax return carefully and file it early. Help is available from the I.R.S., which urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you need outside assistance.

Tideland Oil Deal Now Backfiring

By Doris Fleeson

WASHINGTON. -- A bitter controversy of the late Truman and early Eisenhower years -- tidelands oil -- has been returned to the Congressional arena under extremely provocative circumstances.

Almost the last act of Herbert Brownell as Attorney General was to file a government claim to all underseas land more than three miles from the shore in the Gulf of Mexico. This is where the black gold really is.

The Supreme Court responded this week by ordering all five states on the Gulf, including Texas, to make a joint answer to the government. They are reacting with their customary cry that they are being robbed, plus a new contention that President Eisenhower betrayed them.

Texas has always claimed that its historic boundary is 10-1/2 miles at sea, not three, and in 1952, campaigning in the state, the President specifically supported that claim. Now his Justice Department is taking the opposite view.

Officially, the Justice Department declines comment on the political significance of this 180-degree turn. Unofficially, it suggests that it is up to Congress to define what it meant when it wrote the phrase "historic boundary" into the 1953 Submerged Lands Act.

That act reversed a Supreme Court decision holding that the Federal government had paramount rights in all submerged offshore lands beyond the low-water mark. It granted those rights to each state up to its "historic boundary."

The President may merely want to put on Congress responsibility for the actual handing over to five states the oil riches of the continental shelf. No opportunity has yet been afforded the press to question him since the Supreme Court acted.

Nevertheless, even if he insists he is only taking technical precautions proper to a government of divided powers, he is not out of the woods on the issue. Much depends on timing when such controversies arise. And the present time finds many things different than they were in the halcyon Eisenhower days of 1953.

The Little Rock affair has taken the shine off the cry of states' rights. Many Northerners will think twice now before voting with the South on such grounds, even on a non-civil rights question.

In 1953, too, Republicans controlled Congress, with a staunch conservative, Guy Cordon of Oregon, as chairman of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee. Cordon led the fight to enact the President's bill.

A deal with Senator Russell Long (D., La.) got it to the floor. Long agreed to help Cordon bottle up the Hell's Canyon legislation in committee so that Western Republicans would not be embarrassed by having to vote against it. Cordon, in turn, provided Western Republican votes for tidelands.

A year later Cordon was beaten by Democrat Richard Neuberger largely on the cry of "giveaway" of natural resources, including the tidelands. Now Neuberger has Cordon's seat in the Interior Committee where he has been joined by liberal Democrats John A. Carroll and Frank Church. A liberal Montana Senator, James Murray, is now committee chairman.

Senator Long has moved to the Finance Committee and the only tidelands Senator left on Interior is the only moderately effective Thomas H. Kuchel of California. No part of the South is represented there.

The sputniks, too, play their part in today's altered mood. Senator Lister Hill (D., Ala.) fought originally for a tidelands compromise that would devote offshore oil revenues to education. With expensive crash programs now being demanded for education to overmatch the Russians, a new Hill bill dedicating continental shelf oil to education might be better received.

Dixon - Yates Plot Is Unmasked In Court

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON. -- A couple of old ghosts have come back to haunt the Eisenhower Administration, both in the natural resource "give-away" category. In the interest of keeping current history up to date, may we herewith note a confession of error in both instances by the Administration which, even if belated, must be good for someone's soul.

One is the strange and devious Dixon-Yates affair designed to cripple TVA, a water resource of vast dimensions and public service known all over the work. The other is the so-called "tidelands oil" affair promoted by Gulf oil states and California and big oil men who were angling for state rather than Federal control of large oil resources with the aim of getting more handsome terms.

The latter is perhaps most dramatic because a candidate for President, now in the White House these five years, made a pledge from the campaign stump in Texas in the 1952 campaign that, if elected, he would sign a specific piece of special interest legislation, something this reporter in 30 years of Presidential campaign reporting never saw or heard before.

That bill, passed by Congress to become the first major bill signed by the President in the Eisenhower "clean-up-the-mess-in-Washington" Administration, nullified a Supreme Court decision which held that the Federal government held paramount interest in marginal seas beyond the three-mile limit.

The bill assigned marginal coastal waters to the states up to their "historic boundaries," which five Gulf Coast states -- Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida -- content went further out to sea in individual cases and up to 10 1/2 miles in Texas.

Now the Justice Department, reversing its earlier position, contends in a new brief that the Federal government has jurisdiction over submerged coastal lands beyond the three-mile limit. If that contention is upheld by the Supreme Court -- its previous position -- leases granted by the states in the disputed zone where drilling operations already are under way would be cancelled.

Royalties of around $98 million paid to the states have been impounded awaiting outcome of the new suit to affix ownership. Though Congress affirmed the Federal government's rights beyond the "historic boundaries" of states, it never defined them, which left the way open for the suit.

How the Administration suit would reverse President Eisenhower's position expressed in his 1952 campaign is shown by the naive flat assertion -- a sort of obiter dicta which he was permitted in those halcyon days -- that the submerged area "extending three marine leagues seaward into the Gulf of Mexico" (10 1/2 miles) belonged to Texas.

Just a few days before the Administration reversed its position on tidelands oil, we got a replay of how the Administration reversed itself on Dixon-Yates, and only because it was forced to by its clumsy handling.

This play-back of the sorry story was in a hearing in the Court of Claims of the Dixon-Yates electric utility combine's suit for damages of slightly under $2 million, which it is asking because the Justice Department had cancelled the government's own contract with Dixon-Yates.

Under that contract the company was to build a $100-million generating plant in West Memphis, Ark., that would have cut into the TVA public system to supply power from its private plant in exchange for TVA power to be supplied to an AEC installation in Paducah, Ky.

That round-about, cock-eyed scheme was immediately seen by TVA supporters as an entering wedge to try to destroy TVA. This was demonstrated to be exactly its purpose when the story began to get unraveled in the Court of Claims by sworn testimony of participants.

It all goes back to the Detroit banker, Joseph W. Dodge, a charter member of the Eisenhower team as first Director of the Budget. He wanted to do something about cutting down TVA, though it was really none of his business, and suddenly he thought of a friend of his who had similar ideas. So he brought this friend to Washington and put him to work. He was a New York investment banker, Adolphe Wenzell, of the First Boston Corporation. He came up with some ideas, but all this was on the Q.T.

In time there came to view the bizarre Dixon-Yates deal cooked up jointly by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Budget Bureau, spurring TVA supporters to a Congressional investigation. It came out eventually that Wenzell, whose company was financing Dixon-Yates in the deal, also was working as an advisor for the Budget Bureau in the same deal. This is known as conflict of interest and is against the law.

The Justice Department had to move quickly to call the whole thing off, whence the damage suit for expenses incurred by Dixon-Yates, including a gold shovel used in formal ceremonies to break ground for the plant.

Whatever happened to the shovel we haven't heard, but figuratively, at least, the Eisenhower Administration had to swallow it. And if the government loses the suit, then we taxpayers will have to foot the bill for this faux pas in the name of private enterprise. It's too bad we have to pay for the error of their ways, even if they are recanting.

TE LA DI O

WE LIKED ELEANOR

When we learned that Mike Wallace would have Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt on his so-called tough interviewing program, we wondered how such an exchange would come out, and what could be accomplished by it. Mrs. Roosevelt revealed why she has continued to be a respected leader even while avoiding political activities.
She was very poised and alert as she intelligently handled the bluntness of Wallace. In fact, much of his bluntness was very much softened by her relaxed and balanced answers.
We especially liked her answer to the question of whether she believed communism would replace capitalism. She said she could not predict the future, but that she was more concerned that freedom and democracy be preserved. An intelligent and enlightened public, which she urged strongly, could then choose its own way of life.

WEEK'S HI-LITES
OMNIBUS has cancelled its "Life of Samuel Johnson", scheduled for Sunday, December 1, and in its place will present Eva Le Gallienne in scenes from the drama "Mary Stuart", and Leonard Bernstein and his actress-wife Felicia Montealegre who will narrate a filmed record of their recent trip to Israel.
CONQUEST, a series of ten scientific reports to be presented by CBS-TV during the 1957-58-59 season, will be seen in its first program on Sunday, December 1. The series gives dramatic reports on the world of science and aims to make understandable current scientific advances and projects. Eric Sevareid is host. Sunday's show will feature "Project Manhigh", Air Force Major David Simons' record-breaking balloon ascent 20 miles above the earth, and a report on the current biological revolution, featuring Nobel prize-winning biochemist Dr. Wendell Stanley.
LUCILLE BALL - DESI ARNAZ SHOW on Tuesday night, December 3 will have Tallulah Bankhead as "The Celebrity Next Door". Desi and Lucy will try to persuade their new neighbor to play the leading role in a costume drama produced by the local PTA.
WISDOM, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 on NBC-TV, will feature an interview with the famous architect, Frank Lloyd Wright.

DIAL SPINNERS
DU PONT SHOW of the Month, coming up on January 21, will be the television adaptation of Thornton Wilder's novel, "The Bridge at San Luis Rey".
LASSIE, early Sunday evening show on CBS stations, will have a change of cast beginning December 1.
STEVE ALLEN SHOW on Sunday, January 19 will be telecast live from Havana via the new, over-the-horizon scatter microwave system. This will mark the first live U. S. television variety show to originate in Cuba. The entire cast and crew will fly to Havana for the show.
TV IS COMING DOWN. A small Pennsylvania station has gone into business at a cost of $5,000 for equipment, plus the expense of building a small studio in a two-car garage. This is a little small, but suggests that soon you may see small stations with local programs in many towns at comparatively small costs.
PEEVING TO US is the sports announcer on either radio or television who starts his Saturday programs by telling us who played today and gives no scores. He rambles on like this for several minutes with news that was old the day before. The news of Saturday is the score. That is what the listener or viewer is hungry for. The fact that he is listening or watching indicates he already knows who is playing. He wants the results! Why the long-winded stall?

NBC SPORTS SCHEDULE for the winter includes seven post-season football games, 15 professional basketball contests and seven stake races at Hialeah Park, in addition to the weekly boxing bouts and previously announced championship bowling tournament. NBA pro basketball games start Saturday, December 14. The grid schedule includes several "Bowl" games and pro football championship clashes. "Racing From Hialeah" starts January 18 and the Bowling Championship Tournament will be seen December 13.

RUFF & REDDY, a cartoon series about a cat and a dog, will make its debut on the NBC-TV network at 11:00 Saturday morning, December 14 as a regular Saturday morning feature.
BROWN vs COLGATE, NBC-TV's Thanksgiving Day game, will end approximately at 4 p.m. and viewers will see most of the last half of the Texas vs. Texas A. & M. game.

A TV ROOKING is the untasty dish for eastern football fans this year. While the NCAA hands the east such games as Harvard vs. Yale and Brown vs. Colgate, the west is watching Notre Dame vs. Iowa and Texas A and M vs. Texas. However, all corners can watch the Army and Navy fight it out next Saturday.
IN GOLF, Dutch Harrison takes on Jack Burke, jr., winner over Jimmy Demaret in last Saturday's match. These are seen at four o'clock, on WGR.

Was Justice Done In Moon Case?

When Governor George Leader changed the sentence of Norman Moon from death in the electric chair to life imprisonment, a very inadequate area of our Pennsylvania law became pin-pointed. When is a murderer insane and who is to decide his mental condition?

The opinion of several psychiatrists who recently examined Moon was that he is not sane. But this is almost four years since the murder was committed. The opinion of a sanity commission appointed by Judge Alexander C. Flick before he pronounced the sentence also was that Moon was not mentally well. But Judge Flick believed Moon knew the difference between right and wrong and carried out the decision of the jury. Higher courts upheld him.

The crux of any case is the status of those involved at the time of the crime. Moon's mental health at that time was determined by the jury. This is that fine point about which we were speaking in the first paragraph.

How can a jury of laymen be expected to decide such a technical matter? In the case of Moon each side presented the opinion of one psychiatrist. They didn't agree. One said he was sane, the other said he wasn't. It was up to the very unprofessional jurists. They decided he knew what he was doing when he shot up the judge and the court room. They gave him first degree murder and the chair.

It seems to us that on this basis, Governor Leader should have placed the defendant in a hospital until cured. If he ever became mentally well his situation would revert to the day of the murder when the jury ruled he was not mentally ill. The original sentence then would obtain.

But Governor Leader seems to have been influenced by one of two conclusions in his decision. Either his legal advisers have suggested that you can not electrocute an insane person, and he has permanently changed the decision of the jury to fit that interpretation, or he has decided the jury didn't know what it was doing (in which he is probably right), and has changed the jury's sentence.

It seems this case very strongly points up the need of a thorough examination of a defendant by a group of qualified psychiatrists before a trial is held. A jury then could hear the case and reach its decision with the added help of this professional advice.

Because we do not believe in capital punishment, the result of the Moon case does not perturb us. But we do believe in justice, and we doubt if justice can be done by juries which are not qualified to decide medical questions on which the life of a man or woman will hinge. And by life we mean not only the difference between life and death, but also the future of any defendant's life here or hereafter.

If, as many believe, anyone who kills is at least "temporarily insane", perhaps all such people should be given life with no chance of parole so that such "temporary" moods can not develop again to the loss of the society in which they are supposed to live and let live.

GOLF SPROUTS

The growing popularity of golf is revealed by the large number of courses that are being opened, constructed, and planned in all corners of the nation. The hunger for activities outdoors where fresh air and sunshine can be utilized to the fullest is evidenced by the expanding interest in this game.

In 1957 golfers were given 160 new courses on which to play. Of these 116 were nine-hole courses, and 41 were eighteen. Three had extra holes.

There now are 289 courses under construction. Of these, 156 are nine-hole, 116 are eighteen, and 17 are miscellaneous.

But these do not meet the demand, as well revealed by the many in the planning or prospective stage. These number 758!

Proof that these reveal a great growth in the game is the comparison with previous years. As compared with the 160 new courses opened this year, we opened 155 in 1956. In 1955 it was 127. In 1954 the number was 105. The two previous years we opened 50 and 61.

In 1952 we had only 18 courses under construction. That is when this editor tried to get operations started in the Warren area. Golf course builders were easy to obtain and the price was not prohibitive. Compare that with the 289 now under construction and you may suspect that the problem is slightly altered now.

Proof that it takes a bit of time to build a course is the fact that we opened 160 courses this year, but last year we were building 286 and in 1955 we were constructing 285. Obviously many of these are the same courses and still are not ready for play. The figure in 1958 should be very high.

It is probable that many of the 160 opened this year were those listed in the 198 that were being built in 1954. With numerous communities attempting to save money by building courses with their own hands, more time is required than if money is available for paying experts to do it the fast way.

The 758 courses now being planned or considered also represents a major jump. Last year the number in this category was 612, and in 1955 it was 516. Back in 1952 it was 51. If a recession doesn't stymie us, building golf courses should be a boom business in the years ahead.

This is a healthy trend. It is promising for the health of the nation to see so many turning to a kind of fun that takes people outdoors. It also is a kind of pleasure which hurts no one, requires no physical contacts, yet demands much walking and bodily action. It also harms no animals and requires no dangerous weapons.

And it can be played in a group of four, in three's, twosome, or solo.

The "where" of this golf activity also is interesting. California opened 28 new courses this year, New York opened 10. Texas has 7 new ones, Ohio, Tennessee, and North Carolina have 6 each. Pennsylvania and several others have 5.

California has 40 under construction. Texas has 21, New York, 19, and Florida 17. Pennsylvania and Michigan have 13.

California is planning 110 courses. New York is planning 51, Ohio, 44, and Pennsylvania, 37. ***

WHY NO COLOR?

We suspect that the customer again is getting the worst of it as far as the best available in television reception. We have been hearing about color for several years and were supposed to have it a year or two ago.

In this case we suspect that the vaunted competition on which we lean too heavily for progress is having an opposite effect. NBC has many color programs, but the other networks are not going along. And until you have many programs it will not be worth buying a set, and until sets are bought it will not justify support by sponsors.

But the same people who have the heavy money in network facilities also have it in other areas of the television business, such as the method to be used for sending out color. This might explain why CBS, owners of which may want to promote a patented method of their own, carries a comparatively few color shows.

This Saturday we will miss the benefit of color when the Army-Navy game is played. Soon we will have the colorful bowl games, and the holiday parades. NBC gives all this in color, but without adequate receiving facilities what good is it to the majority of us.

Color will almost take you to the scene. But the public waits while the operators operate.

What's Texas Got To Do With This Turkey?

There's a chance he might have been raised there. There's an even better chance the natural gas you used to roast him to mouth-watering perfection flowed to your home all the way from Texas or Louisiana.

Today's demands for natural gas far surpass supplies available in nearby Appalachian fields. So billions of cubic feet of this modern fuel are pumped from southwestern wells to serve homes and industry here.

The facilities required to bring natural gas to you are costly. But it's money well spent because it assures you of a dependable, economical fuel supply at all times.

That's another reason why natural gas is the modern, efficient fuel. And it serves you best when you use it with modern, automatic gas appliances.

This and many other money-saving advantages can be yours by having your car or truck safety-checked on our Bear Alinement Equipment. Then you're "all set" for safer, more economical driving.
Even new cars sometimes are "thrown out of line" by bumps against the curb, on the road or in parking spots. You may not realize it, but a front wheel need only be 1/8-inch out of alinement to cut the tire's life in half, make the car pull and steer hard, and cause other costly and hazardous conditions.
Our Bear Service positively locates trouble spots and shows up dangerous conditions that will save you money - - and perhaps your life.
We do the work quickly and reasonably, no expensive teardowns or disassembly.

A LOOK TO THE FUTURE was enjoyed by members of St. Francis Episcopal church last week. During the meeting of the parish, under the direction of The Rev. Gregory A. E. Rowley, plans were accepted and arrangements were made to start at once with a program which would include a new parish hall, remodeling of the present parish hall into the new church capable of seating over 100, new kitchen, boiler room, new heating system, storage rooms, rest rooms, and Sacristy. The parish hall will have removable partitions to accommodate Sunday School classes and social events.

The Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge, chairman of the Warren County Board of Episcopal Missions and Rector of Trinity church in Warren, outlined the plans for future expansion. The present program will cost approximately $50,000. The balance of the plan, developed by Beck & Tinkham, will be built as future needs require.

Joins Us in Wishing All a Happy Thanksgiving

Phil Silvers, known as the lovable poker-playing Sgt. Bilko of the WBEN-TV comedy series, You'll Never Get Rich, Tuesday evenings at 8 o'clock, dons traditional pilgrim gear and trades his Army rifle for the antiquated blunderbuss in order to get in a real Thanksgiving mood. Silvers and this newspaper join in extending to all a most happy Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, Nov. 28.

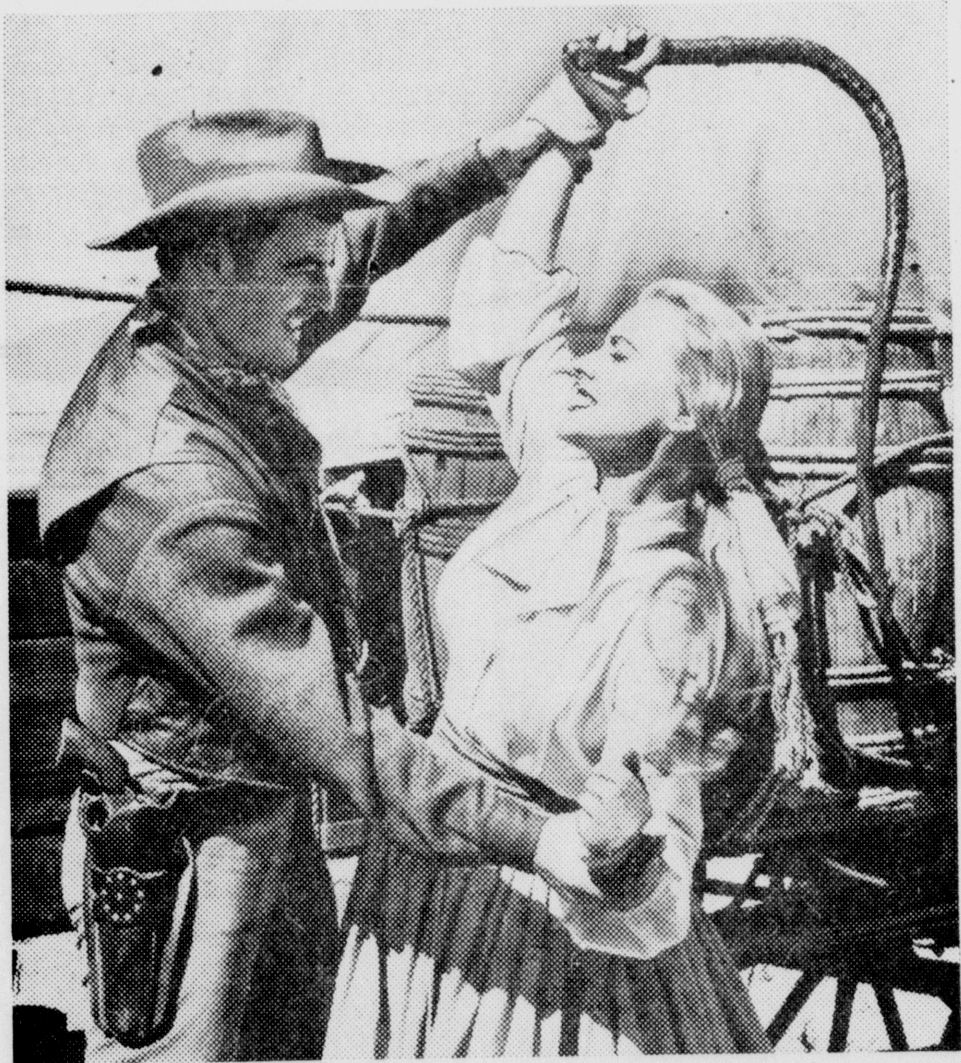

'TONIGHT' — Joan Mitchell is one of the comely lassies who make frequent appearances on NBC-TV's Monday-through-Friday "Tonight" with star Jack Paar.

DYNAMIC DINAH — Versatile Dinah Shore sings, dances, performs comedy routines and presents top-name guests when she stars on NBC's "Dinah Shore Chevy Show" colorcasts most Sunday nights.

EVANS AS MALVOLIO — Maurice Evans will re-create the role he made famous on Broadway when he appears as the misanthropic Malvolio in Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," the "Hallmark Hall of Fame" colorcast over NBC-TV Sunday, Dec. 15.

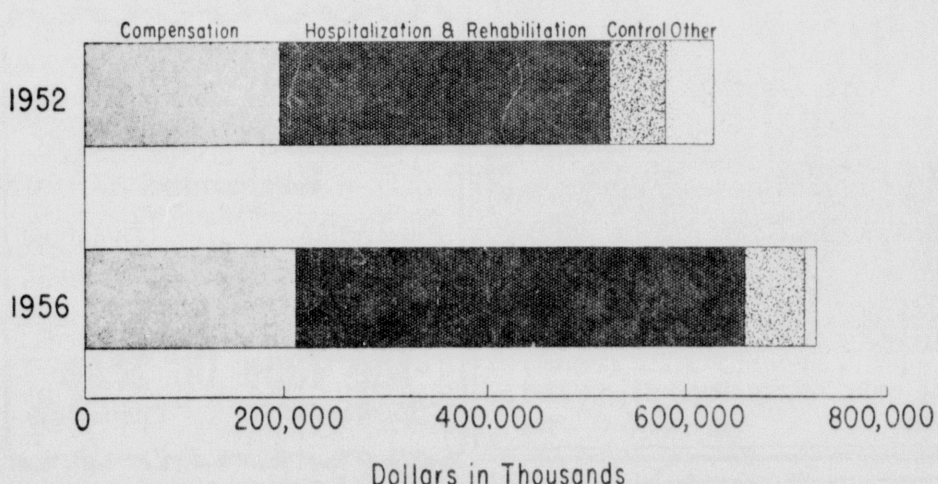

IN 'WAGON TRAIN' ROLES — Robert Sterling tries to tame a fiery Anne Jeffreys in "The Julia Gage Story," drama to be telecast on NBC's "Wagon Train" series Wednesday, Dec. 18. They join the roster of prominent actors and actresses who are guest stars of the weekly full-hour Western series.

MAKING A MARX IN THE WORLD — No, it's not Groucho Marx with Arlene Francis, it's Eddie Hugh, the floor manager on her Monday-through-Friday daytime NBC-TV show. Hugh, a former vaudevillian, dresses up like Groucho each morning for the studio audience warmup in New York's Radio City.

What TB Costs You

TUBERCULOSIS EXPENDITURES
AMOUNT OF EXPENDITURES BY MAJOR TYPES
UNITED STATES, 1952 and 1956

In four years the cost of TB to the nation has increased from $600,000,000 to over $700,000,000. Most of this comes out of the taxpayer's pocket. The biggest increase has been in the cost of treating TB patients: hospitalization and rehabilitation. Through the Christmas Seal campaign, the tuberculosis associations raise money to prevent and control TB and cut down the future cost of this disease.

JANIS PAGE is seen by co-star Patty McCormack as the prettiest and gayest woman she has ever known, in the drama "One of the Family," Thursday evening, Nov. 28, at 7 o'clock on WBEN-TV. However, in the Studio 57 production, the rest of the young girl's highly-respectable family frowns on this woman with a "questionable past."

WHS CAGERS COMMENCE 57-58 SEASON SATURDAY

With only one returning letterman, Coach Joe Massa's Blue and White cagers will start their 1957-58 basketball season against Erie Academy on Beaty Gym next Saturday night at 8:15 p.m.

The lone monogram winner from last season's team which won 15 and dropped 7 is Jack Karkosky. Competing for the other four starting assignments on this year's team are Nick Creola, Mark Peterson, Don McKelvey, Joe Massa, Craig Johnson, Bill Mervine, Bill Brumagim, Bob Yerg, Jack Lobdell, Mike Cashman, Nick Monroe and Bob Haslet.

In Saturday's preliminary contest at 7 p.m., the Warren J.V.'s will face the Northern Area J.V.'s.

SECOND BOXING CARD DRAWS LARGE CROWD

A first round knockout and three decisions delighted an overflow crowd at the YMCA gym last Monday night when Joe Fazio and the Warren YMCA presented their second boxing card of the year in Warren.

In the main event, Tom Gerarde brought the crowd to its feet with a first round KO of Ed Kent. Gerarde's minute and a half KO of the Little Valley, N.Y., boxer may have spoiled some of Kent's future plans. He had planned to turn professional if he could get past Gerarde.

In the semi-final bout, Joe Campagna of Warren decided George Carter of Jamestown. In the prelims, Bob Ford of Scandia decided Gene Musante and Tom Suppa won the nod over Harrison McCool.

Jimmy Clark, a leading middleweight contender in the 1930's, officiated the four bouts. An overflow crowd flooded the balcony and the main floor of the YMCA gym to watch the amateur bouts.

LESS BRUINS

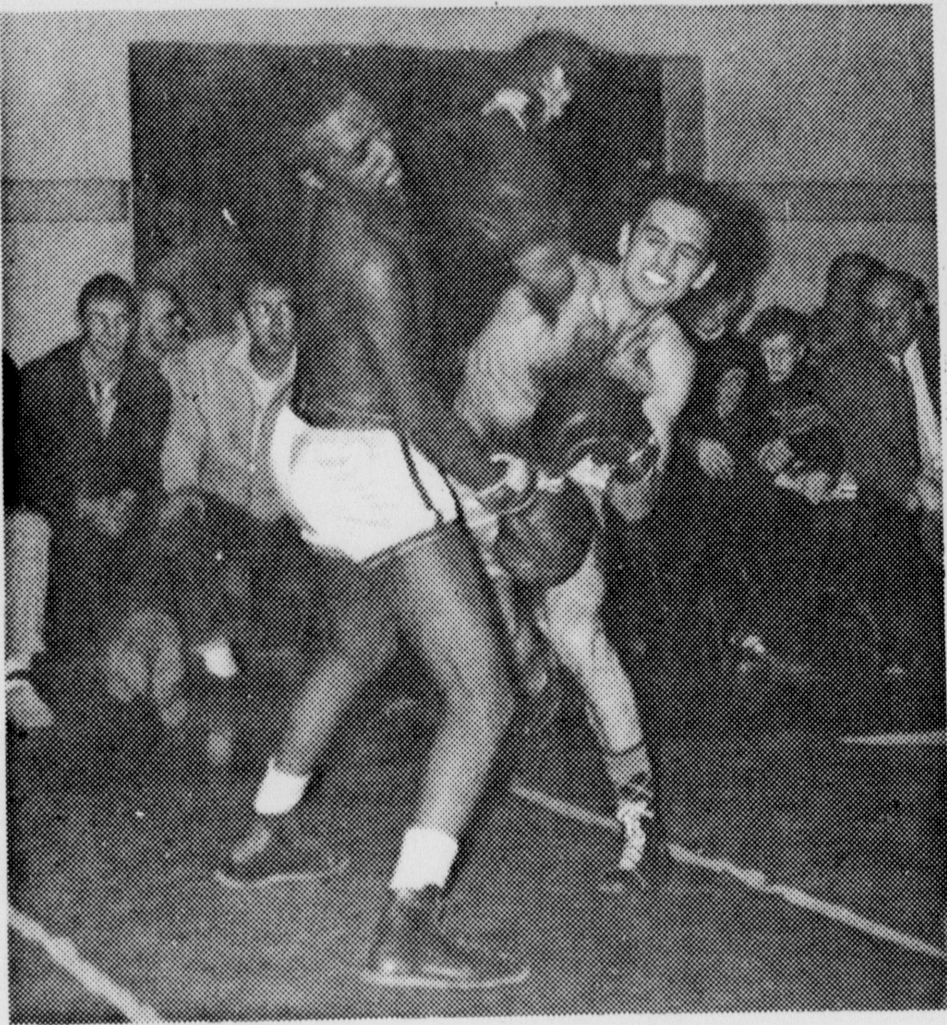

Only six bears were shot in Warren county the first half of the week, as far as Warden Dave Titus is concerned. He has seen one other bear but is not sure it was downed in this county. Last year he had seen about ten bears at this time, and only about two more were killed the rest of the week.

The figures vary from the state figures of eight for Warren county because some hunters fail to report their kill. It is possible that Thanksgiving and a big influx on Saturday preceding the deer season will result in a stronger finish this year.

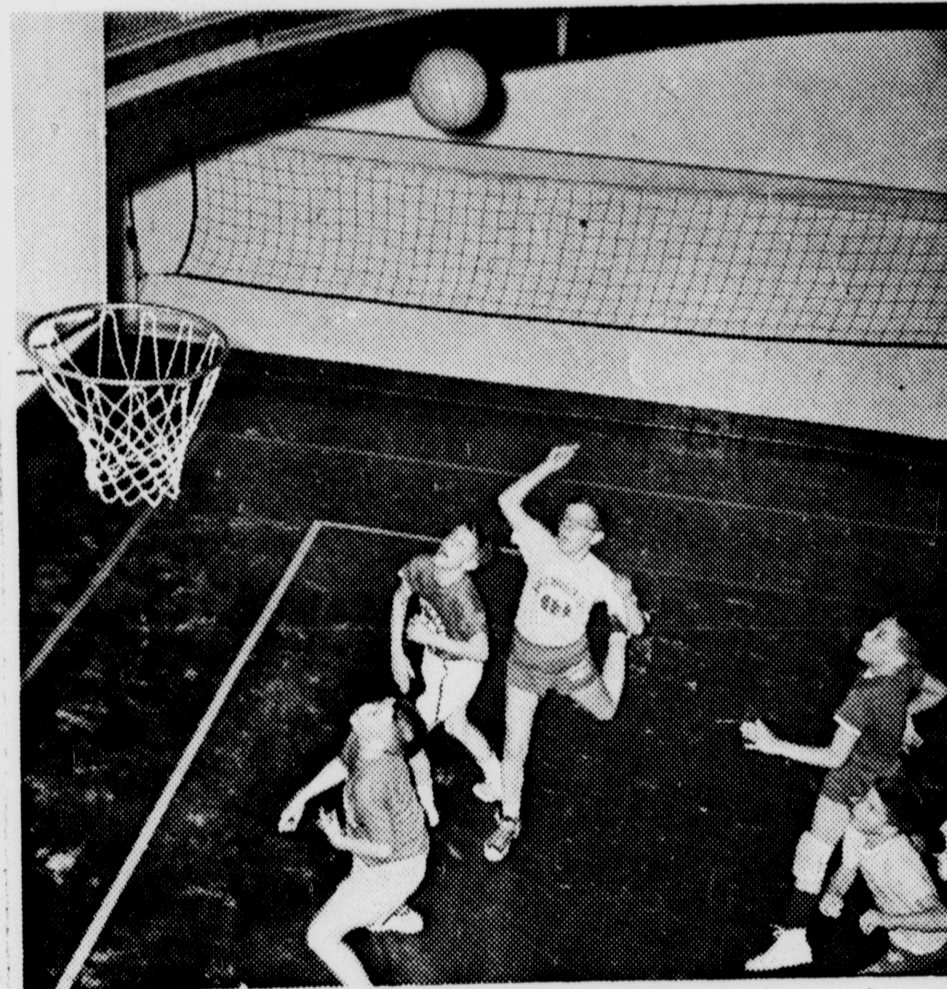

BEARDED FIVE BEAT STYLE SHOP

The House of David topped the Warren Style Shop, 78 to 69, before a good sized crowd on Beaty Gym last night. Bobby Roth, the visitor's court clown, led all scorers in the exhibition contest with 24 points. Gail Nelson paced the Style Shop five with 15 markers.

In the preliminary contest, two Warren high school fives played an intra-squad contest.

A RIGHT to the chin of George Carter was thrown by Joe Campagna in a five round bout at the YMCA Monday night. Campagna decisioned the Jamestown boxer 26 to 24.

POUNDING THE HOOP consistently during the first half, Bob Crossett paced the way for North Warren's Gra-Y league victory over Jefferson Saturday.

BOWLING

BOWLING ROUNDUP

The high single game of the week in Warren was recorded in open bowling when Lyle Porter put together 9 strikes, a 7 count on the first ball in the tenth, a spare and 9 pins on his last ball for a 276 game.

League rollers were topped by Rita Miley with games of 236, 214 and a 621 total in the Ladies City loop. Marge Larson had a 206 single in the same league. Carol Sandberg led the Ladies Class C with 481 and Letha Hamm's 399 topped the Hairdressers loop.

Dan Doherty paced the Industrial circuit with 606 and Mike Bleech's 597 was best in the K, of C. National. Dave Fink topped the City league with 586, Sam Turner's 582 was best in the Commercial league and George Anderson topped the Junior Industrial loop with 564. Other league leaders were Minor Snarburg, Sylvania, 538; Vern Melander, Merchants, 533; Rodney Rudolph, Junior, 518; Bob Covell, Shop, 483; and Lewis Spangler, Metzger-Wright, 434.

The mixed bowlers were topped by Larry Zobrest with 543 and Pauline Rosenquist with 400 in the Tuesday night circuit. In the Friday night loop, Dean Whitaker had 528 and Donna Smith, 458.

Merle Sterling and Fred Baldensperger posted respective 552 and 550 series as a Warren Elks aggregation defeated Kane Elks Sunday. Baldy also had high game with 212, Web Riggs hit 202 and Sterling racked 191.

LOVE, ANYONE? Steverino, the greyhound on the Steve Allen show, Queen of Dogs, shyly accepts the affectionate greeting by "Jester," two-year-old Siamese, King of Cats.

The two recently met at a coronation party staged by "Jester," - that's right, coronation party.

You see, "Jester" had a notion he'd like to toss a party just for the sake of tossing a party! And he did!

A MISS IS A HIT — Jill Corey, singing star of NBC's "Your Hit Parade" colorcasts Saturday nights, has been chosen "Miss Mistletoe of 1957" — the girl any man would want to meet near the traditional Yuletide symbol.

FAST CHANGES
The hunting seasons roll in and fade out in a weekly series of shifts. This is bear week, and the last one in which you can knock over bunnies, pheasants, and quail. The big one comes up next Monday when deer bring in the hordes for their days and weeks in the woodlands, away from home cooking and with mulligan stew, stud, and bottled gas as substitutes.
The hair on their chest vacationers make up a large percentage of the visitors and this season they may find more acreage in which to stretch their legs. The game commission has opened many acres which ordinarily are closed to hunting, such as rabbit farms and dog training areas which previously have been closed to the gunmen.

The purpose is to clear these lands of the heavy herds which have developed because of the protection. In fact, they have become so numerous in some cases that they have interfered with the management program of small game.
However, this does not mean that all such areas are open. Only those which clearly are identified as now open for hunting will be the exceptions.
Another opener coming up is the trapping season for muskrats and mink. If you have not scouted your favorite territory the commission says you may be disappointed. The dry season has caused many animals to move for food and for protection. Better do some scouting before Saturday when the traps can first be set.
Another tip handed out by the commission is that you visit farmers with ponds. Muskrat may have become a pest in some of these areas and they might be happy to have you trap them out. And pond trapping is real sport, especially if you can arrange to have exclusive rights. Gone is the fear of stolen traps, many times including the catch. The season for both animals ends January 18, at noon.

ALSO DRY
The duck hunting this year also fizzled in much of Pennsylvania for the obvious reason that large migrating flocks saw no landing facilities. The water was shallow and lacking in food, they no doubt concluded without stopping. Perhaps with the water so shallow they might have found feeding easier. But many of the marshes and protective places in which they usually stop would have required landing gear of a nature not usually worn by the hydro-bottomed ducks.

HOW OLD WAS IT?
The game commission would like to have you help make a survey of the deer herd. This includes the average age of the deer shot. You can help determine this by sending half the lower jaw to the commission's biologist. He is Stanley Forbes, 432 Lookout ave., Ridgway, Pa. Game officers also will be checking felled deer for antler size, sex, and age.

TWO RECORDS BY ARCHERS
Our prediction that the archers would account for more deer than in any previous season should have been made with superlatives. The arrowmen actually topped the previous season almost six times over.
The bow shooters pierced 1,275 deer during their special season. In 1956 the kill was 224. The difference, of course, partially due to the fact that doe also were legal this year. The other reason for the bigger kill was the increase in archers. They bought 55,172 licenses as compared with their previous high year, 1956, when they used 26,210 permits.

After The Missile What?

If a nation is to fight a successful war on a major scale in the future it must find a way to do so without destroying the conquered, and certainly without adversely affecting the rest of the world. That is not possible today and the fear of such consequences, together with the knowledge that there will be much costly retaliation, stays the hand of the ambitious conquestors who may live in our midst.

Even though one nation may ever be a few months or years behind the scientists of another, always there is the fear of total destruction, and even the trailing power has sufficient striking strength to make war unprofitable.

We can imagine three possible answers. One is the use of "clean" explosives by all powers concerned, eliminating fall-out and confining their damage to the area hit. However, even the use of clean hydrogen bombs would have so great a chain-action danger that this too seems impractical.

The next step that might provide the advanced nation with an overpowering weapon is the speed of light. If a light can be developed that will paralyze and destroy, the first country to develop it in quantity might be able to win a war in a few short hours.

And then there is disease. If an entire nation can be made sufficiently ill, perhaps fatally, and at least helplessly, its enemy could take over very easily.

Do not say they are impossible. They are! And they represent more reasons why our educational system must start its scientists young, even as it starts its football farm systems for high school sport. We will need brains, and good ones, in this period directly ahead.

Meanwhile, let us not forget the social studies. For only through them will we really attain peace. Technology will keep us strong so that we can defend freedom. But it will be learning to live together that will win the peace.

If we are to err in education, it should be on the side of excess. Not on the side of economy.
